

Index for Volumes 5 and 6

- The Adena Engraved Tablets: A Study of Art Prehistory, David W. Penney, Vol. 5, p. 3.
- An Analysis of Prehistoric Food Remains from the Bruly St. Martin Site, Louisiana, with a Comparative Discussion of Mississippi Valley Faunal Studies, James W. Springer, Vol. 5, p. 193.
- BAUGH, TIMOTHY G., see Wyckoff, Don G.
- CAINE, CHRISTY A. H., see Gibbon, Guy E.
- Ceramic Classification and Temporal Discrimination: A Consideration of Later Prehistoric Stylistic Change in the Mississippi River Delta, Dave D. Davis, Vol. 6, p. 55.
- Clay Funerary Masks in Illinois Hopewell, Della Collins Cook, Vol. 6, p. 3.
- COOK, DELLA COLLINS, Clay Funerary Masks in Illinois Hopewell, Vol. 6, p. 3.
- DAVIS, DAVE D., Ceramic Classification and Temporal Discrimination: A Consideration of Later Prehistoric Stylistic Change in the Mississippi River Delta, Vol. 6, p. 55.
- Early Historic Hasinai Elites: A Model for the Material Culture of Governing Elites, Don G. Wyckoff, Vol. 5, p. 225.
- Ectonal Settlement and Subsistence in the Northern Midwest, Michael G. Michlovic, Vol. 5, p. 151.
- EMERSON, THOMAS E., A Stable White-Tailed Deer Population Model and Its Implications for Interpreting Prehistoric Hunting Patterns, Vol. 5, p. 117.
- Epidemic Disease in the Postcontact Southeast: A Reappraisal, George R. Milner, Vol. 5, p. 39.
- FARNSWORTH, KENNETH B., see Cook, Della Collins.
- GIBBON, GUY E., The Middle to Late Woodland Transition in Eastern Minnesota, Vol. 5, p. 57.
- Hopewell Middle Woodland Settlement Systems and Cultural Dynamics in Southern Michigan, Robert G. Kingsley, Vol. 6, p. 131.
- JURNEY, DAVID H., JR., The Source and Distribution of Specialized Stone Tools in the Ozarks, Vol. 6, p. 17.
- KINGSLEY, ROBERT G., Hopewell Middle Woodland Settlement Systems and Cultural Dynamics in Southern Michigan, Vol. 6, p. 131.
- The Lab Woofie Site (11-S-346): An Unplowed Mississippian Site in the American Bottom Region of Illinois, Guy Prentice, Vol. 6, p. 33.
- LANGE, FREDERICK W., Prehistory and Hunter/Gatherers: The Role of Analogs, Vol. 5, p. 133.
- MEHRER, MARK, see Prentice, Guy.
- A Method for Reliable and Quantifiable Subsampling of Archaeological Features for Flotation, Jeanne M. Schaaf, Vol. 6, p. 219.
- MICHLOVIC, MICHAEL G., Ectonal Settlement and Subsistence in the Northern Midwest, Vol. 5, p. 151.
- The Middle to Late Woodland Transition in Eastern Minnesota*, Guy E. Gibbon, Vol. 5, p. 57.
- MILNER, GEORGE R., Epidemic Disease in the Postcontact Southeast: A Reappraisal, Vol. 5, p. 39.

- MUNSON, PATRICK J., Note on the Use and Misuse of Water-Separation ("Flotation") for the Recovery of Small-Scale Botanical Remains, Vol. 6, p. 123.
- NANCE, JACK D., Non-Site Sampling in the Lower Cumberland River Valley, Kentucky, Vol. 5, p. 169.
- New Perspectives on the Late Woodland Cultures of the Western Lake Erie Region, David M. Stothers, Vol. 6, p. 91.
- Non-Site Sampling in the Lower Cumberland River Valley, Jack D. Nance, Vol. 5, p. 169.
- Note on the Use and Misuse of Water-Separation ("Flotation") for the Recovery of Small-Scale Botanical Remains, Patrick J. Munson, Vol. 6, p. 123.
- PENNEY, DAVID W., The Adena Engraved Tablets: A Study of Art Prehistory, Vol. 5, p. 3.
- The Potential of Fish Utilization in Riverine Environments, Richard Yerkes, Vol. 6, p. 207.
- PRATT, G. MICHAEL, see Stothers, David M.
- Prehistory and Hunter/Gatherers: The Role of Analogs, Frederick W. Lange, Vol. 5, p. 133.
- PRENTICE, GUY, The Lab Woofie Site (11-S-346): An Unplowed Mississippian Site in the American Bottom Region of Illinois, Vol. 6, p. 33.
- Problems in Ceramic Classification and Chronology: An Example from the Mobile Bay Area, Alabama, Robert G. Whitlam, Vol. 6, p. 179.
- The Russell Brown Mounds: Three Hopewell Mounds in Ross County, Ohio, Mark F. Seeman, Vol. 5, p. 73.
- SCHAAF, JEANNE M., A Method for Reliable and Quantifiable Subsampling of Archaeological Features for Flotation, Vol. 6, p. 219.
- SEEMAN, MARK F., The Russell Brown Mounds: Three Hopewell Mounds in Ross County, Ohio, Vol. 5, p. 73.
- SODAY, FRANK, see Seeman, Mark F.
- The Source and Distribution of Specialized Stone Tools in the Ozarks, David H. Journey, Jr., Vol. 6, p. 17.
- SPRINGER, JAMES W., An Analysis of Prehistoric Food Remains from the Bru-ly St. Martin Site, Louisiana, with a Comparative Discussion of Mississippi Valley Faunal Studies, Vol. 5, p. 193.
- A Stable White-Tailed Deer Population Model and Its Implications for Interpreting Prehistoric Hunting Patterns, Thomas E. Emerson, Vol. 5, p. 117.
- STOTHERS, DAVID M., New Perspectives on the Late Woodland Cultures of the Western Lake Erie Region, Vol. 6, p. 91.
- WHITLAM, ROBERT G., Problems in Ceramic Classification and Chronology: An Example from the Mobile Bay Area, Alabama, Vol. 6, p. 179.
- WYCKOFF, DON G., Early Historic Hasinai Elites: A Model for the Material Culture of Governing Elites, Vol. 5, p. 225.
- YERKES, RICHARD, The Potential of Fish Utilization in Riverine Environments, Vol. 6, p. 207.

